Gary Anderson Women's Artistic

Lifetime Achievement Recipient

A part of the gymnastics community since the 1960s, Anderson has been an athlete, coach, club owner, event director, contributor and supporter of the sport throughout his life. Beginning as an athlete who was a two-time YMCA National all-around champion (1968-69), a three-time NCAA All-American in 1968 and a Pan American Games team silver medalist in 1971, Anderson's reach in the sport of gymnastics has touched nearly all aspects. He went on to serve as head coach of the 1983 Pan Am Games gold medal-winning women's team and work in coaching positions at Towson University and the U.S. Naval Academy. For 20 years he served as owner of MarVaTeens Gymnastics and is credited with establishing the "Capital Cup" in 1981 format for women's competitions, which is the most utilized women's competitive format to date. At USA Gymnastics, Anderson held roles on the Board of Directors as Elite Coaches Representative and Secretary, the USA Gymnastics Foundation Board and served in director and chairman positions in Region 7. He received multiple awards throughout his career, including the USA Gymnastics Service Award in 2006 and the Shirley Marshak Award in 2007.

Morgan Hurd Women's Artistic

A U.S. Senior National Team member for five years, Hurd boasts an impressive elite career headlined by two World Championships gold medals. In her first year on National Team, Hurd claimed the all-around gold medal and balance beam silver at the 2017 World Championships in Montreal, Canada. The following year in Doha, Qatar, she won team gold, floor exercise silver and bronze all-around in World Championships competition. Other international highlights include two American Cup all-around titles (2018, 2020), an all-around gold at the 2019 Tokyo World Cup, and two team championships at the 2018 Pacific Rim Championships and the 2019 Pan American Games. Domestically, Hurd was the 2018 U.S. all-around silver medalist and uneven bars and floor bronze medalist, and the 2019 U.S. uneven bars silver medalist. After her elite career, Hurd joined the University of Florida's women's gymnastics team, and she remains active in the sport as a photographer and content creator.

USA Gymnastics HALL OF FAME

Melissa "Missy" Marlowe

Women's Artistic

A 1988 Olympian, Marlowe's gymnastics career is full of highlights as an elite and collegiate athlete. At the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea, she was a part of the women's team who placed fourth in team competition. Marlowe previously was a 1987 World Championships team member and was a part of the 1987 Pan American Games team that won gold in Indianapolis, claiming bars gold at the competition. In domestic competition, she was the 1987 U.S. bars champion, all-around silver medalist, and beam bronze medalist. Collegiately, Marlowe was the first gymnast to score at least one 10.0 in every event. In 1992 she nearly swept that year's NCAA National Championships, winning gold in the team competition, all-around, and on bars, beam and floor at the University of Utah. She also won the NCAA beam title in 1991 and helped her team win their 1990 championship. Marlowe was inducted into the Utah's Crimson Club Hall of Fame in 2001 and is a part of the Utah Sports Hall of Fame. She received the USA Gymnastics Athlete of the Year award in 1987 and the Honda-Broderick Cup and NCAA Top 6 Award in 1992.

Rebecca Sereda

Rhythmic

Sereda was a rhythmic gymnastics U.S. National Team member between 2008 and 2015 where she was six-time U.S. junior and senior all-around champion. Sereda competed at the 2013 and 2014 World Championships and claimed a gold medal as part of the 2014 Pan American Championships team in Toronto, where she also was the all-around silver medalist. In her senior career, Sereda won 10 U.S. titles in rhythmic competition at the USA Gymnastics Championships, claiming 14 U.S. medals total over the three-year period. She was twice named the rhythmic Sportsperson of the Year (2012, 2014), was a two-time rhythmic Athlete of the Year (2013-14), and received the rhythmic Star Service Award in 2023. Upon retiring, Sereda held positions in the Rhythmic Program Committee, Athlete Selection Committee, International Elite Committee, Athlete's Council and the USA Gymnastics Board of Directors as Athlete Director. She graduated with a bachelor's degree in biology from Boston University and a master's degree in biomedical science from Albert Einstein College of Medicine. She resides in New York City, where she currently is pursuing her PhD.

Barry Weiner

Men's Artistic

After a successful career as an athlete, Weiner became one of the most respected coaches in the gymnastics community. Before coaching, he put up gold medal performances at the 1968 Maccabiah Games and competed at Temple University, where he was named MVP of the team in both 1968 and 1969. Weiner is most well-known for transforming the University of California's men's gymnastics program into an NCAA-winning team, leading them to back-to-back collegiate championships in 1997 and '98, for the first time since 1975. As an elite coach, he was selected as the assistant coach for the 2000 U.S. Olympic men's team in Sydney, Australia. He collected a multitude of accolades as a coach, including being a five-time NACGC and MPSF Coach Of The Year each, 2010 USAG men's artistic Coach Of The Year, and was inducted into the University of California Hall of Fame in 2023.

Marc Yancey

Men's Artistic

Lifetime Achievement Recipient

Yancey was a longtime contributor in the sport, acting as an athlete, coach and leader until his passing in 2024. Serving as a coach for much of his life, he was notably the head coach to the junior men's 2000 Pan American Games team that won gold and was president of the U.S. Men's Gymnastics Coaches Association from 1992-2001. Yancey was well-respected in the gymnastics community, holding positions in multiple committees, including the Texas USGF Women's Program Committee, USA Gymnastics Board of Directors and Men's Program Committee, Texas Men's Executive Committee, and serving as president of Gymnastics Association of Texas from 1996-97. He was an international brevet judge from 1988-2004 and was a Frank Cumiskey Service Award recipient in 2001, among many other accolades.

2025

Gillian Markham 2025 Spirit of the Flame Recipient

Gillian Markham, a 17-year-old trampoline, tumbling, and artistic gymnast from Round Rock, Texas, is the recipient of the 2025 Robert Miller Spirit of the Flame Award. A member of Tumble Tech and Round Rock High School's gymnastics team, Markham has been part of the gymnastics community for 14 years and is currently training to reach elite status in trampoline.

In early 2025, Markham suffered a life-threatening injury during practice, striking her head on a trampoline frame, causing a seizure and unconsciousness. Despite a severe laceration, concussion, and a lengthy recovery, she returned to training and competition, finishing in the top 10 at the 2025 Elite Challenge in Jacksonville. Throughout her recovery, she focused on comforting her teammates, especially younger athletes who witnessed the accident, showing a deep sense of empathy and leadership.

The USA Gymnastics Athletes' Council honored Markham for her empathy, positive attitude and determination. "Her selflessness, emotional strength, and quiet leadership reflect the very best of what gymnastics can instill in its athletes. Gillian reminds us that the greatest impact often comes not just from overcoming hardship, but from helping others do the same," said Council Chair Alex Renkert. Markham plans to attend the University of Arkansas in 2026 to pursue a nursing degree.

The Spirit of the Flame Award was renamed in 2011 in honor of gymnast and Staff Sergeant Robert Miller, who received the Medal of Honor after saving the lives of fellow soldiers while serving in the war in Afghanistan. The award is given by the USA Gymnastics Athletes' Council to recognize individuals in the sport of gymnastics who have demonstrated leadership, strength and determination in an extraordinary way.
